

Market Study : Drinking water and Process water - qualitative and quantitative evolution – World

Internship in our Marketing Department

The Lhoist Group is a family owned shareholding with a continuously growing global reach.

We develop high quality solutions from the finest natural mineral resources. The carbonates, oxides and speciality products bring essential functionalities to our customer processes.

Driven by a passion for excellence and innovation, our employees' diverse knowledge and cultural backgrounds constitute the strength of the Lhoist Group.

Lhoist is investing in the future of promising professionals. We believe we can help by giving an opportunity to apply your theoretical background and enthusiasm to a Business environment within our organisation.

Market study : Drinking and Process water qualitative and quantitative evolution - World

Description:

Lhoist is a major supplier of reagents for drinking and process water preparation in Europe and in US . The calcium and magnesium based reagents participate in the treatment and purification of water before human or industrial use. Lime is widely use in the water softening and decarbonation as well as in the remineralisation. The scarcity of good quality fresh water and the emergence of new technologies that required large quantities of water increase the need for water treatment.

Purpose:

- Understand the evolution of the drinking and process water demand and problematic in different geographical areas (USA / South America / India / China)
- Identify the key market indicators to correlate the market evolution with potential lime based opportunities
- Understand the major evolution of the technologies
- Identify the significant actors of the market

Profile:

- Student in civil bio- or management engineering, with a strong interest in environmental topics
- Curious, autonomous with strong analytical skills
- English fluency
- Good knowledge of IT tools (Microsoft Office, internet, etc.)

Preferred start date and duration: 2012 – 4 to 6 months

The process :

- Step 1 : Submit CV and cover letter in English
- Step 2 : Take on-line Assessment (SHL OPQ and SHL Verify)
- Step 3 : Interview 1 with Line Manager and HR

INTERESTED? Send your application to:
helene.nenquin@lhoist.com

For more details please consult our website:
www.lhoist.com

